

September 30/04 Submission to N.W.M.O.

- Here with is my written statement regarding the ever-growing problem of dealing with radioactive waste generated by nuclear reactors.
- This material will be toxic to all living creatures in perpetuity. It behooves humans to monitor this toxic nemesis in a highly secure (secure from both natural phenomena such as earthquakes as well as human malfeasants in the form of terrorism).
- Given the advocacy for the development and construction of nuclear reactors, I suggest this lethal waste be stored on property owned by politicians who voted for it → development and its <sup>own</sup> use. It should be stored also on the property of all those in the private sector (starting with corporate CEO's) who <sup>directly</sup> benefitted from this technology's proliferation. So, all members of The Canadian Nuclear Association should be examples of folks who should have this radioactive poison stored on their own property. No joke, they got paid.

→ You make the poison; you babysit the poison. Radioactive waste is mankind's nemesis so those who profited from its proliferation should embrace the whacko technology that made them affluent, or, at the very least, comfortable.

→ This submission is not a joke, it's about true justice for creating the most dangerous garbage on this much-degraded planet. Mendelson to
